LEAD MANAGEMENT IN DRINKING WATER

In March 2019, Health Canada published a new lead limit for the Guidelines for Canadian Drinking Water Quality (GCDWQ). The guideline introduces two fundamental changes from how lead has been managed in drinking water since 1992, the maximum acceptable concentration (MAC) for lead was lowered to 0.005mg/L from the previous 0.01mg/L and more importantly, the point of compliance for lead is now at the customer's tap and no longer in the distribution system.

Alberta Environment and Parks (AEP) recommends approaching lead management in two phases:

Phase 1 – Planning, communication and assessment

Phase 2 - Mitigation

Phase 1 is to be completed between 2020-2024. During this time, the Town of Onoway will perform sampling throughout the Town, under the parameters set out by AEP we will be sampling at the tap of twenty residents throughout various areas of Onoway. These samples will be collected, analyzed and the results shared with the resident(s) of the sample location. The collective sample results will become part of the annual report to AEP. Throughout the 2020-2024 timeframe, the Town of Onoway will be making information available to the public through newsletters, mailouts and/or our website.

The Town continues to review AHS's restrictions and recommendations and, as such, the office remains closed to the general public. While the office is closed, feel free to call or email us at info@onoway.ca to discuss matters or to schedule a meeting.

BLACK KNOT

What is Black Knot?

Black Knot is a common disease of trees and shrubs in the Prunus family (plums, cherries, chokecherries, etc.) This disease is widespread throughout Alberta and while not harmful to people or animals, it does reduce the aesthetic value of your trees and may result in the eventual death of the tree.

How can I recognize Black Knot?

Initially, a small, olive-green gall develops on new growth. Mature galls form after about 2-3 years of growth and are hard, black, 10 to 15 cm (4 to 6 inches) in length and may appear ruptured. Many spores are released in early spring and may continue to be present in the air until the new growth stops. After infection, the gall will continue to grow eventually girdling and killing the branch.

What can I do to control Black Knot?

- Regularly monitor for early stages of the disease.
- Prune out all galls by removing infected branches at least 15-20 cm below the gall during late fall, winter or very early spring when plants are dormant and knots are easy to see. For galls on main branches or trunks, cut back to good wood, beyond the edge of a gall (consider calling a certified arborist) More information on pruning can be found in Alberta Agriculture and Forestry Pruning Tip Sheet www.agriculture.alberta.ca/horticulture
- DESTROY DISEASED WOOD IMMEDIATELY
- Clean and disinfect cutting blades after pruning.
- Ensure plants are healthy and free from stress.
- Chemical controls are not readily available for Black Knot.

The Town will be removing trees from Town property which are identified as having black knot. The Town will be burning these trees at our Lagoon site and we invite our property owners to also bring their infected trees to our site and we will monitor the burn. A specific date/time will be established for residents to bring your trees. Please contact the office if you require further details.
